Lomita Civic Group Installs New Officers

Installation of Leonard Loy as the new president of the Lomita Chamber of Commerce to succeed L. J. MacArthur was the highlight of the Monday evening meeting under the theme "Looking Ahead."

Dr. Jacob Martin, an instructor at El Camino College, served as installing officer and was the evening speaker. He spoke on the theme "Looking Ahead," and pointed out that one of the functions of the chamber was to analyze the problems of past years, determine the problems of the present, and use the knowledge to solve the problems of the future.

Assuming office with President Loy were: Sim Bramlett, vice-president; Lee Solomon, treasurer; and Mrs. Joseph Bader, secretary-manager.

Chairman of the dinner meeting and master of ceremonies for the program was Barney Higgins, who was seated as a director along with Greg Doyle, Al Jollensten, Oscar Swedborg, Sam Norfolk, Cy Hopkins, and Phil Osborne.

More than 100 members and their guests attended.

Revised Bible To Be Opposed In Public Rally

Rev. Andrew Duty will address the Protest Rally at the First Baptist Church of Wilmington, 915 Neptune Ave., tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. The subject of the address is "Approve or Disapprove — an objective examination of the Revised Standard Version." The meeting is one of 3000 rallies called for by the American Council of Christian Churches to document opposition to the new Bible. "A great deal of time and money has been spent to get across the idea that here is an up-to-date Bible in our present language. In the actual text, however, the new version merely reproduces many ancient heresies of the past century. Perhaps that is the reason a recent Gallup poll showed 22 per cent opposition to the new Bible, with 50 per cent still undecided. Nothing of recent years has so stirred the Christian public."

Rev. Duty is pastor of the First Fundamental Baptist Church of WALTERIA and instructor of Greek grammar at the Los Angeles Baptist Theological Seminary.
